PROPOSED NEW INTRODUCTION

Albany's 30-page Strategic Plan is the kind of document most people never read. According to the Central Intelligence Agency's World Fact Book, the U.S. has a 99 percent literacy rate; so it's safe to assume that most people in Albany could read the Strategic Plan if they were motivated to do so. I believe the Plan is not widely read because it competes against much more attractive ways for citizens to spend their time.

My hope is that if people are not willing to take the hour or so it might take to read the Strategic Plan, they may accept reading the following short summary:

The City Council adopted mission, vision, and value statements for the organization that communicate aspirations to provide "...quality public services for a better Albany community." Our values could easily be labeled "Things our Parents Taught Us," as they include honesty, dedication, responsibility, excellence, teamwork, and compassion. If we continually work to accomplish our mission while observing our values, we believe we will achieve our vision of "a vital and diverse community that promotes a high quality of life, great neighborhoods, balanced growth, and quality public services."

Our plan is organized under the four themes of "Great Neighborhoods, A Safe City, A Healthy Economy, and An Effective Government." Each theme includes goals and objectives to help make the themes reality. Most of the objectives are very specific, such as increasing the number of transit system riders by five percent by the end of 2014 or reducing the cost per item circulated at the library by 15 percent by 2014. Ideally, departments allocate resources to achieve the goals and objectives, although I believe this is still a work in progress. Some of the goals were set when resources were more plentiful and achieving them would not necessarily come at the expense of potentially higher priorities.

The Strategic Plan is not engraved on stone tablets, meaning it is designed to accommodate changing circumstances while retaining a commitment to its primary themes and goals. The Plan's performance measurements track the different departments' progress (or lack of it) toward achieving important objectives. Our Finance Department, for example, recognizes that receiving the Government Finance Officers Association annual awards for excellence in financial reporting and distinguished budget presentation are an important part of being an effective government. We commit the time and resources necessary to achieve these benchmarks, and there would be consequences if we did not. Meeting or exceeding accepted standards for excellence is a good way both to achieve and demonstrate an effective government.

I have often used a quotation attributed to former President Dwight Eisenhower, who said, "Planning is everything; the plan is nothing." I think he meant that the time and effort associated with creating and sustaining a plan provide the common understanding and teamwork needed to accomplish important goals. Albany's Strategic Plan exists to achieve this purpose.

CITY OF ALBANY STRATEGIC PLAN

FY 2010 THROUGH FY 2014

REVISION 8/19/2009

OUR MISSION

"Providing quality public services for a better Albany community."

OUR VISION

"A vital and diversified community that promotes a high quality of life, great neighborhoods, balanced economic growth, and quality public services."

A NEW APPROACH FOR FY2010

The City of Albany began this strategic exercise back in 2005. Since that time, there have been changes in format and approach as we have sought to improve the quality and effectiveness of this document.

This plan presents several significant changes. We have worked to clarify the objectives and actions proposed to reach the goals assigned by the City Council. There has been a concerted effort to make sure that every objective and action has a measure attached so that anyone can clearly understand what constitutes completion of the proposed actions and when.

Here are some of the changes you will see:

The plan is now based on fiscal years to directly link with budgets and financial reports.

The plan is based on an assessment of likely financial and staff resources that will be actually available in a time of economic stress.

Each goal is now closely matched with specific Objectives, Actions, and Measures.

All objectives have clear and specific measures designed to establish either dates or numerical values to show progress and attainment.

Objectives that are proposed are based on actions and activities that the City of Albany has the ability to directly initiate, influence, and control.

A goal in the Healthy Economy section spoke to the composition of the city's economy:

"Enhance the value and diversity of Albany's economy through building on Albany's status as a regional center of manufacturing, research and development, retail services, finance, health care, tourism, and government."

Staff supports building a diversified economy. However, the language is imprecise in conveying Council's intent of the role and activities that City staff might bring to bear in this endeavor. Staff has not been able to develop objectives, actions, and measures that can reasonably support the goal as written; so the goal has been removed from this plan.

The objectives and actions presented are based on the highest priorities of departments and represent commitments that each department feels are feasible to reach the stated goals.

A new section called Supporting Strategies and Approaches contains the ongoing programs, policies, and processes of a general nature to support overall goals; or objectives which are likely to occur and/or reach conclusion outside of the timeline of this plan; or objectives that are dependent on commitments from governments, businesses, agencies, or other groups that are outside of the purview of direct City control.

The objectives and actions in this document represent a continuation of activities necessary to reach the Council's goals. In reality, the goals work to establish a process of continual improvement that the City must engage in to keep Albany prepared for the future.

Respectfully submitted,

Wes Hare
City Manager

OUR VALUES

The City of Albany's Strategic Plan is guided by three fundamental elements: our mission, our vision, and our core values. Our Mission Statement is based on the principles of high quality and continuous improvement. Our Vision Statement presents a compelling future toward which our Strategic Plan is directed. Both our mission and our vision are founded on the following basic values that guide all of our actions and that reflect what we expect from our employees and our elected officials:

Transparent, Open, and Honest Government. This value reflects our first and most important responsibility. Our competence is measured and, in fact, reinforced through active engagement of those we serve. We maintain an organizational reputation for openness, honesty, and integrity.

Dedication to Service. Our primary duty is to the people we serve. We are accessible, responsive, consistent, and understanding. We provide assistance beyond our customers' expectations, and we find effective solutions to problems that they bring to our attention.

Fiscal Responsibility. Proper use of public resources is a trust which we continually guard. In our management of this trust, we must avoid even the appearance of impropriety. In our management of public funds, we constantly strive for the greatest possible efficiency and effectiveness.

Personal Honesty and Integrity. Each of us demonstrates the highest standards of personal integrity and honesty in our public activities to inspire confidence and trust in our government.

Excellence. We continually pursue excellence by being creative, professional, taking risks, showing initiative, and being committed to our community and team. In this pursuit, we support continuing education and training for all team members.

Teamwork. We are a team that emphasizes high levels of trust and cooperation and a commitment to excellent communications within the organization. We encourage employees to exercise independent judgment in meeting customer needs through professional behavior that is consistent with our values.

A Humane and Diverse Organization. We are a humane organization that honors diversity and protects individual rights. Open communication, respect for others, compassion, and a sense of humor contribute to our positive work environment. We make it possible for every employee to achieve his or her full potential. We value the cultural and social diversity that is reflected in our community, and we welcome the changes and new perspectives that this diversity brings to us. We protect those individuals whose basic rights are placed in jeopardy.

Why Do Strategic Planning?

If our Mission and Vision Statements are to have any meaning, they must be accompanied by deliberate planning efforts to move the organization and the community toward a desired future. This requires clearly defined goals, proactive objectives, committed leadership, and effective management. Above all, it requires managing the forces of change. Those forces include community demographics, state and federal mandates, fiscal constraints, economic conditions, emerging technologies, and many other influences on our service delivery efforts. High performing organizations are those that learn to anticipate and adapt to change by creating value for those we serve, and motivation and meaning for those who serve them. The best tool for accomplishing these objectives is strategic planning.

STRATEGIC PLAN THEMES

Our Strategic Plan has four primary themes that reflect our Mission and Vision Statements: Great Neighborhoods, a Safe City, a Healthy Economy, and an Effective Government. Specific goals, objectives, and actions move the organization toward our vision of the future.

Each theme is followed by the City's primary goals in that subject area for the foreseeable future. The goals should remain constant over time and should only be revised to reflect significant community changes or unanticipated events. A list of measurable objectives with benchmarks helps us track progress toward the goals. Objectives are generally identified to cover the five-year planning period from the date they are adopted or revised. Actions are the steps needed to meet the objective. Many more strategies and actions will be developed at the department and division level to align the entire organization with the goals and objectives.

This plan is intended as a work in progress. While the mission, vision, values, and goals should remain constant, the objectives and actions will need periodic review and refinement. We will track progress through regular reporting on the measures, and they will be incorporated into department, organization, and community publications. The annual Budget and Capital Improvement Program will serve as reporting and implementing policy documents, identifying relationships with the Strategic Plan. The Comprehensive Plan, Transportation System Plan, Water Master Plan, Sewer Master Plan, Parks Master Plan, Hazard Mitigation Plan, Urban Forestry Management Plan, and related planning documents also support this Strategic Plan.
