

Examples of Eligible and Ineligible Expenses

The following expenses are commonly requested for reimbursement from Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs). This list is not comprehensive and is subject to change. In order for any expense to be eligible under your FSA, supporting documentation from your healthcare provider is required. Documentation must include:

- the date the service was incurred (not necessarily equal to the date of payment),
- a brief description of the service or product, and
- the name of the provider or place of purchase.

All expenses must be incurred for medical care, and not cosmetic or general health purposes. To be considered an eligible expense, any items listed as "Potentially eligible" will require a Letter of Medical Necessity or prescription from your healthcare provider. The letter or prescription must include the item prescribed, condition being treated, and duration of treatment. For your convenience, a Letter of Medical Necessity form is available at PacificSource.com/psa under Forms.

Please note: Healthcare reform places restrictions on over-the-counter (OTC) medicines. Effective January 1, 2011, most OTC medicines and drugs (excluding insulin) will require a Letter of Medical Necessity or prescription from your healthcare provider. Please note this ruling does not affect all OTC items, only those considered medicines or biologicals.

Expense Type	Eligibility	Comments and Special Rules (if applicable)
AA meetings/ Alcoholism treatment	Eligible	Transportation expenses associated with outpatient care or attending meetings of an AA group qualify. Expenses for inpatient treatment (including meals and lodging), at a center for alcohol addiction will also qualify.
Acne treatment	Potentially eligible	Because acne is considered a disease, the cost of acne treatment will generally qualify, although over-the-counter (OTC) acne medications must be prescribed if incurred after December 31, 2010. However, the cost of regular skin care (face creams, etc.) does not qualify. And when the expense has both medical and cosmetic purposes (e.g., Retin-A, which can be used to treat both acne and wrinkles), a note from a medical practitioner recommending the item to treat a specific medical condition is normally required. See Drugs and medicines; Cosmetic procedures; Cosmetics; Retin-A; Toiletries.
Acupuncture	Eligible
Adaptive equipment	Potentially eligible	To show that the expense is primarily for medical care, a Letter of Medical Necessity is required. Where applicable, only amounts above the cost of the regular version of the item will qualify. Depending on the nature of the item, other special rules may apply.
